AMUSEMENTS

"The Bohemian Girl"

The success of "The Bohemian Girl" to be presented at the Cairo Opera House on Wednesday, Jan. 29, is attributed in part, to the peculiarly sympathetic and romantic nature of the story told. Briefly, the story is that of an Austrian nobleman's child, who is stolen by a Gypsy band. In this band is harbored but later accepts him as his daughter's fiancé, when he learns of his noble nature and birth. But the continued popularity of "The Bohemian Girl" is really due to the appealing nature of Balfe's delightful music, which includes those heart-stirring melodies "I Dreamt I Dwelt in Marble Halls," "The Heart Bowed Down," and "Then You'll Reed a young fugitive nobleman, and as she grows up they fall in love. The identity of the girl is finally revealed to her father by the jealous Queen of the Gypsies, who loves the fugitive nobleman and hopes thus to get rid of her rival. The father at first scorns the young man's suit.

"A Modern Eve"

Georgia Drew Mendum, the clever comedienne, who will be seen in the cast of well known principals appearing in Mort H. Singer's successful musical comedy, "A Modern Eve," which will be the attraction at the Cairo Opera House next week. Has been in the cast ever since the premiere performance of the Berlin operetta, and she has not missed a performance since the initial night. During the two hundred and fifty performances in Chicago of "A Modern Eve," she was the only woman in the cast who did not suffer efficiently from a cold or other illness to give her understudy an opportunity. Other well known players included in the original cast in Chicago to be seen here are Frank DeShon, the merry little comedian,

Ruth Peebles, prima donna, Frederic Sautley, a young matinee idol, Berthe Beaumont, whose creation of the role of the Italian girl in "Miss Nobody from Starland" was the hit of that offering, also William Kent, Carl Stall and Lee Johnstone. "A Modern Eve" is in two acts, and the scenes are laid in France during the present period. The scenic and costume production is particularly elaborate. Among the many song hits are "Goodbye, Everybody," "Is the Girl You Married Still the Girl You Love?" "You're Such a Lonesome Moon Tonight," and "Rita, My Margarita." The large beauty chorus is particularly attractive in the beautiful wedding scene in the first act and in the clever dancing number, "Every Day is Christmas When You're Married."

Kimmel Theater.

The Kimmel theater for the first half of the week, beginning yesterday afternoon matinee, presented its usual booking of three interesting Vaudeville acts, the headliners consisting of the "Mysterious Kings," a man and woman who perform some impossible feats along the lines made famous the world over by Houdini.

The Kings escape from cages, masks and straight jackets. The Kings invite the patrons of the Kimmel to bring their own locks and chains offering $100 reward to anyone who can lock up the "King Pin" so secure that he cannot escape from the cage.

Dyer and Dyer have a complete innovation in the acrobatic line—an act full of rip-roaring good fun and interest from beginning to end. One of the Dyers is an unusually clever clown, and does some of the most clownish and absolutely foolproof stunts imaginable, while the other is perhaps the cleverest, best and altogether most accurate acrobat in the acrobatic realm of vaudeville.

Miss Georgia Fitzgerald, billed as a "singing comedienne" is a live wire, a bunch of steel springs in her inimitable cown-shouting stunts. Miss Georgia is a "Georgia Peach" as she has it on Tyrus Raymond Cobb when it comes to rolling up a batting average—she hits at 1,000 with her vocal numbers and for an encore gave an exhibition of classical whistling that made everybody wonder if she really did it. When it comes down to the "business" Miss Fitz is long on the article her gestures being decidedly graceful, although at times it appears as if she were going through a course of calisthenic exercises for chest development. Miss Georgia will be a strong favorite during her brief engagement in Cairo.

Gem Theater.

Hengluers trained dogs are the feature act at the Gem theater the new bill having started with Sunday's matinee performance. There are 15 canine actors in the troupe and their trainers put them through a remarkable series of difficult tricks. Several of the stunts are entirely new, and both the dogs and their master and mistress acquit themselves creditably.

Miss Lyda Canter, a charming young woman and Hugh Murphy, Cairo's own vocalist share honors in separate singing acts. Miss Canter has a rich clear voice with a high range and her execution of a number of popular hits are well received. Her personality and good looks, with taste in her dress, enhance her act. Mr. Murphy sings a ballad and a popular number that as usual stamps his favoritism with his audience.

Barber and Palmer, styling themselves as "Handlers of that nifty talk" are good in their line and the lady of the duo uses her exceptionally good voice in several musical numbers.

MOUND CITY

The fourth monthly report of the high school which was given out last week shows the following results:

Senior class, rank one, Joe O'Sullivan. Rank two, Margie Schneider. Junior, rank one, Fred Williamson, rank two, James Mosley. Sophomore, rank one, Lena Westerman, rank two, Albert O'Sullivan. Freshmen, rank one, Wayne Mount, rank two, Emmett Swisshelm.

Miss Margaret Harris was hostess to a few friends at her home on High street Saturday evening. The affair was in honor of her twelfth birthday. Miss Mary Anna Sheerer won the prize in a guessing contest. Other games were played during the remainder of the evening. An ice course was served by Misses Mary Harris and Lois Schuler. The guests were Beulah Parker, Adelaide and Lois Schuler, Alice Tucker, Winifred Schuler, Grace and Joyce Moyers, Bessie Morford, Mary Schuler, Miriam Murphy and Mary Anna Sheerer, Fred Wehrenberg, Ralph Swisshelm, Carlos Parker, Fred Bergman, Hilary Herria (Center Station) Orrin McKinney, Russell Lewis, Charlie Harris and Harry Wright.

Expensive Taste.
A woman wine taster in France is said to earn nearly $25,000 a year, as her services are in good demand. Not many women have adopted this profession, but a half dozen or so have been famed for their powers. It takes a rare sense of taste to be able to tell as soon as a drop of wine touches the tongue in just what part of the world the grapes are grown.

Escaped After Fifteen Years.

W. P. Broyles made a successful escape after fifteen years of suffering from kidney and bladder troubles. Foley Kidney Pills released him and will do just the same for others. He says: "They cured a most severe backache with painful bladder irregularities, and they do all you claim for them." Take the "direct road" to health and strength by using Foley Kidney Pills for backache, rheumatism, weak, sore kidneys and bladder irregularities. They are the best medicine you can buy for kidney and bladder ailments. For sale by all druggists.—Advt.
